RINGS WORTH $1,050 LOST BY CLINIC VICTIM

Police Search for Mrs. May Wasby's Jewelry.

WATCH RETURNED

Other Personal Property Is Believed to Be O. K.

Cleveland police today were asked to investigate the disappearance of two rings, valued at $1,050, which Mrs. May Wasby, of East Liverpool, one of the victims of the Cleveland clinic explosions, is said to have worn at the time of her death.

Investigation Asked.
The loss of the rings was discovered last Wednesday when Mrs. Leon Rubin, friend of Mrs. Wasby, received the victim's personal property from clinic officials. Tied to the wrist watch were two rings—a small diamond ring worth $50 and a white gold wedding ring the value of which was placed at $10.

Mr. Rubin, familiar with the rings which Mrs. Wasby owned, said the returned rings were not the property of the blast victim. The wrist watch was identified by its number.

The watch and rings were sent to Willard Ligonist, a friend of the Wasby family, in Cleveland, who reported the matter to police.

Purse Is Returned.

One of Mrs. Wasby's rings contained one large and six small diamonds, and was valued at $1,000. The other was a platinum wedding ring worth about $50. The diamond ring bore a number on the inside while the wedding ring can also be identified through a trade mark on the inside, it is said.

Mrs. Wasby's purse, containing a small amount of money, and other personal property were returned with the jewelry.

Big Business.

PROF. GARRETT P. SERVISS, who died Friday, was a noble and useful man, by his scientific writings known to millions. He turned the thoughts of readers away from this small earth and its petty strivings to the outside universe and its grandeur.

He had chosen all science for his field of study. But ever returned to astronomy, and possessing the faculty of making abstract truth clear and acceptable to the average mind, he was a most valuable educator.

He never thought of money, never cared for it, earned just enough to provide for his family and continue his work.

Prof. Serviss' long life of constant industry has added to the knowledge, efficiency and value of many minds. His death means to millions the loss of a valued friend and teacher.

FLYING news is cheerful thanks to big business. If you want anything done in this country, pray for high finance to say, "it shall be done."

Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., head of General Motors, announces purchase of a great plant for making airplane engines. His company, of many millions and with engineers worth more than all the company's money, will concentrate on production of the "ultimate airplane engine."

That engine will come 50,000 years hence or later, but right away Mr. Sloan will produce a better engine. Charles E. Mitchell, who put the National City Bank into aviation, has purchased for United Air Craft, the company that makes the Wasp and Hornet, air-cooled engine. His engineers are working on better engines.

HENRY FORD, first of the great industrialists to make flying machines, lunched with the President on Friday and told him he was at work on the better-flying-engine problem, building engines in his own factory. It took some time, but this country is on the way to lead in airplanes, as it does in automobiles. Henry Ford is not a believer in Diesel engines, because of their weight. German engineers believe they will produce a Diesel engine that, with fuel for 10,000 miles, will weigh less than any gasoline engine with equal fuel supply.

It is said that Diesel engines will be used by the government in an all-metal dirigible now under construction.

HENRY FORD told the President that prohibition, absolutely enforced,

With All Motors Functioning, Industry Holds Lead in Attention as Week Opens.

TEXAS AIRMEN ALOFT 172 HOURS

Robbins and Pal, Kelly, Break Endurance Record for All Types of Aircraft.

By HOMER H. METZ.
International News Service
Aviation Editor.

With all motors functioning beautifully, aviation, the infant industry, roared into the new week today far in advance of all competitors in the matter of public interest.

Virtually every news story of importance throughout the nation is either intimately or remotely connected with the flying art.

Outstanding is the feat of R. L. Robbins and James Kelly in breaking the endurance record for all types of aircraft at Fort Worth, Tex. The hitherto unknown pilots who kept their single motored rebuilt monoplanes, the Fort Worth, aloft for 172 hours, 32 minutes and 2 seconds, were sleeping the sleep of victory today while flying enthusiasts everywhere marveled at their accomplishment.

"Question Mark" Record Tumbles

FORT WORTH, Tex., May 27.—Interest in aviation, the peacetime maker of heroes, today focused on Fort Worth where two plucky Americans were sleeping the sleep of triumph after one of the most astounding feats yet recorded in the fast developing giant industry. Reginald L. Robbins and James Kelly, two "barnstorming" fliers, landed their single-motored Ryan monoplanes "Fort Worth" here at 4:05 yesterday afternoon after a continuous flight of 172 hours and 32 minutes, establishing a new endurance record for all types of aircraft.

The previous record, established by the army plane "Question Mark," was beaten by Robbins and Kelly by more than 21 hours. The Question Mark, a well-equipped tri-motored Fokker, with a crew of five men, had remained aloft 150 hours and 40 minutes. The Fort Worth stayed in the air 172 hours, 32 minutes, according to official computation.

Minneapolis Pilots Seek Record. MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 27.—(INS)—In their effort to break the endurance flight record of 172 hours and 31 minutes made at Fort Worth, Texas, Sunday, Gene Shank and Owen I. Haugland, Minneapolis pilots were hovering over the Robbinsdale airport here today after 48 hours of continued flying.

PASTOR OF U. P. CHURCH IS ILL

Taken ill on Saturday, the Rev. L. J. Davidson, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, of this city was unable to be in his pulpit yesterday.

The Rev. Dr. J. C. Smith, of Pittsburgh, Pa., preached in the morning. Because of the baccalaureate sermon, which was preached by the Rev. J. H. Lawther at the First Presbyterian church, no services were held at night.

WALTER INGLEDUE IS FINED $100

Walter Ingledue, proprietor of a Lincoln highway lunch stand in Hanover township, west of Lisbon, was fined $100 and costs by Probate Judge Lodge Riddle today after he pleaded guilty to a charge of possessing intoxicating liquors. Ingledue was arrested after Sheriff W. J. Barlow and Deputy Sheriff James Elliott seized a beer bottle alleged to contain a small amount of whisky near his place of business Saturday night.

Veterans of Three Wars Attend Memorial Sunday Services In Methodist Church

Sermon Is Delivered by Rev. Dr. W. O. Hawkins.

"To be a Christian and a patriot is consistent with the fundamentals of our national life since the founders of our country came to America for religious freedom and civil liberty," asserted the Rev. Dr. Warren O. Hawkins, the pastor, at the First Methodist Episcopal church in a memorial Sunday sermon.

The services were attended by the Grand Army of the Republic, representatives of the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Sons of Veterans, the Women's Relief Corps, Ladies of the G. A. R., the Rev. J. H. Lawther Delivers Baccalaureate Sermon.

SERVICE URGED

Members of Class Attend Presbyterian Church.

Success in life is measured not in dollars and cents but by one's service to humanity, the Rev. J. H. Lawther, Ph. D., told 135 members of the high school graduating class in the baccalaureate sermon at the First Presbyterian church last night. His subject was "Service."

The graduates occupied reserved seats in the auditorium. Seats for the parents of the graduates were also reserved. A capacity crowd attended.

Special music was in charge of the Apollo Male chorus, directed by W. A. MacDonald. A solo was sung by Rowland T. Kaufman, tenor. Pastors of other churches assisted in the service.

Text of Address.
The Rev. Mr. Lawther said in part: "I would place as the motto of your life just one word—SERVICE. Washington, Lincoln, Grant, Ford, Edison, Moses, Cromwell and Wellington were servants to humanity and if you wish to become great, I trust serve. And you are great only to the extent of your service."

"First, you should know yourself; second, you should know life, and third, you should know how to live—yourself, life and how to live, these three. What you think you know now is greater than it ever will be again, though you go through college. The horizon of the unknown increases many times as fast as the circle of the known and in proportion to it."

"Don't underestimate yourself. If you make yourself a worm, of course men will tramp upon you. Be a man. Make your environment create your circumstances. Make your stumbling blocks stepping stones to success. Your handicaps, if overcome, will make you the better and the stronger man. Use the talents you have and don't worry about the talents you don't have. Genius is great but not everything. Men may have genius but unless they have character they are of little value to the world. The world admires men of genius but it respects a man of good moral character."

"There are many great men who never attended high school. There are educated men with much higher education than you or I who have never been inside a college or university. Great men are always humble. Great wealth is not essential to success. Wealth is an injury to a man of weak purpose. Any boy or girl with health and a willingness to work and the consent of their parents may

OHIOAN IS SHOT IN AUTOMOBILE

AKRON, O., May 27.—(INS)—Charles Lapresto, 37, Akron, was shot and fatally wounded by several men in a large touring car here early today. Lapresto had just started for work when he was shot, in front of his home. Two discharges from shotguns struck Lapresto. He died in the People's hospital. Police have been unable to assign a motive.

ZOO SIGNS MEAN WHAT THEY SAY

TOLEDO, O., May 27.—(INS)—The signs "Don't Feed the Animals" hanging at promiscuous and sundry places in the zoo here, mean just what they say. Arthur Scott, 23, and Harold Murphy, 26, found that out. They were arrested yesterday on charges of "feeding the monkeys." They are to answer for their "monkey-business" in municipal court today.

Two ARE FINED ON RUM COUNTS

Fines totaling $200 were assessed today against two women, charged with liquor violations, by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley.

Mrs. Mattie Parsons, West Third street, whose home was raided by police Sunday, was fined $200 and costs, for possession. A fine of $100 and costs was meted out to Mrs. Mary Hutchinson, Union street, where about one-half pint of whisky was seized.

FORT WORTH FLIERS SET RECORD

Reginald Robbins, left, former railroad mechanic, and James Kelly, right, former cowboy, both with six months flying experience, broke the refueling endurance record for all types of aircraft by remaining aloft 172 hours, 32 minutes and 2 seconds at Fort Worth, Texas.

OHIO BOY, 10, PILOTS PLANE

TOLEDO, O., May 27.—(INS)—George Weaver, 10-year-old Toledo boy, who could be called "Young Lindy," is the object of envious glances from his playmates today. George did what every 10-year-old American boy dreams of doing. He flew an airplane, and for the distance of 50 miles, from Lorain to Cedar Point. The plane was piloted by Parker Cramer, well known aviator, and as soon as it left the ground the seasoned pilot turned the controls over to George. It's unusual, but then not for George. It's in his blood. His daddy, the late "Buck" Weaver, was a former U. S. A. aviation instructor.

WOMAN ATTACKED, MAN IS JAILED

Mrs. Verna Cowan, 47, 622 Dresden avenue, was recovering today from injuries suffered at 9 o'clock last night. Police arrested her divorced husband, Peter Papendry, section foreman on the Y. & O. railroad.

Papendry was arrested in the Diamond by Patrolman William Lister at 11:30 o'clock last night. He is held in jail today upon a charge of carrying concealed weapons, following the finding of a 32-caliber revolver in his pockets.

Police claim that Papendry attacked his wife with a pick handle and a vase. When Sheriff Barlow went to the Papendry home in Glenmoor last night to arrest the man, part of a still and a barrel of mash is alleged to have been found.

Barlow said that Papendry would be charged with assault and possessing utensils used in the manufacture of intoxicating liquors.

BETWEEN YOU AND ME

Safety First! is a much-used slogan nowadays and insurance is responsible for much of the safety of present day life. . . safety from famine, from windstorms, fire loss and many other disasters. That's why it's absolutely necessary that you look ahead now by seeking expert insurance counsel at The Lee C. Cooper Agency. Don't wait 'til the firemen are at your door or until you've figured in an automobile accident. Too late then to buy Fire or Collision Insurance.

No foolin', every man must have a straw by Decoration Day. They can't get away with those old battered and worn felts any longer. We're going to have some nice warm days now and a hot-headed man just can't enjoy warm weather but as soon as he sees the good-looking straws in Frank Diamond's window display I feel sure he will be curious to see the many other styles in this up-to-date Men's Store. 'Twill be easy to find the correct straw hat for every occasion in the desired color and size.

It's playtime outdoors and sports wear week at LEMMER'S. Where would one find a happier combination? And though you indulge not in tennis or golf, despair not of wearing sports attire for Fashion decrees that frocks for the spectator be every bit as smart as for the active sports woman. Not only for the slender types are the hundreds of lovely frocks at LEMMER'S but there's a veritable style show for large women and a special price reduction as an added feature for this week only—every smart style of slender sister adapted to the proportions of large women at the surprisingly low figures of $9.75.

Can you remember back, not so long ago, when you had to have a new wave every time it rained, and you didn't dare go in swimming and get your hair wet? Verily, permanent waves are a boon to humanity. Every woman who hasn't naturally curly hair should have one and the discriminating woman will go to The Stern Beauty Shoppe. Their operators are real artists and you will be given a lustrous, natural-looking wave—and an individual hair dress which will delight you.

I think I'll appoint myself a committee of one to inspect washing machines in private home laundries this week. Bet I'd find quite a few old rattle traps, don't you? That would take too much time and besides who'd want me poking 'round? To all those who have old washing machines and are considering a new one may I remind you that OGILVIE'S are making a very interesting offer? They will give you $35.00 for your old washer, which means a very liberal savings on the new model M Easy Washing machine. Saturday will be the last day of this special offer so please don't delay!

As ironing always follows close at the heels of washing, it might be fitting to say a few words about the easiest method of ironing—not only the easiest, but the most efficient. I just wish every household might know the joy of a Rainbow Automatic Ironer. This machine irons everything beautifully and does away with all the drudgery of ironing day. It is fun-really fun to operate it, and after all there is no economy in bending over an ironing board for hours at a time at a back-breaking, health-ruining job. Summer days will soon be here. 'Tis then you'll want to do your ironing before the sun gets hot. You won't need to rise at the dawn of day to do it. If you have a Rainbow machine—six hours ironing can be done in one hour. They will be glad to show you the new Rainbow Ironer at The Frank Crook Co. or better still, they will deliver one to your home for you to try—to test with a week's ironing.

As long as there are humans, I presume there will be catty remarks. Just the other day, for instance, I heard an outspoken male say to his neighbor: "Even though your car is two years old, it would look pretty fair if it had a good cleaning and polishing." "But I haven't had time to clean it," was the rather impatient reply. "Well," insisted the other, "that's no excuse. I don't always have the time either but I drive down to Grease Palace down on the Corner of Second and Washington streets. They give you all kinds of service down there—car washing, crank-case service 'n everything. Thus another name is added to the long list of Grease Palace patrons.

Ruth Ann Club Entertained.
Members of the Ruth Ann club met at the home of Mrs. Raymond Harue, Carolina avenue, Chester, Friday night. Mrs. Harry Hackathorn was associate hostess. Music and games were diversions.
A handkerchief shower was given for Mrs. John Danatta who recently celebrated her birthday anniversary.
The hostess was assisted in serving luncheon by Misses Ruth Means and Anna Stanley.
The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Means, of St. George street.

FOUR AUTOS ARE DAMAGED

No One Badly Hurt in Series of Accidents Here.

Three passenger automobiles were badly damaged, one truck was wrecked and the McQueen's Run bridge demolished in a series of automobile crashes in the Wellsville district yesterday.

Edward Gill, Alliance, and four passengers, including a baby, escaped with bruises when Gill's Nash sedan overturned and went upside down in a ditch near Chettle lake. Gill, it is said, attempted to pass another car and his automobile skidded and went into the ditch.

A Whippet, with a door torn off and a side caved in, found in the Lisbon road with no occupants, was ordered towed into Wellsville by police.

Nash sedan failed to make the turn in the Wellsville-Toronto road near Island creek and turned over into a field along side the road. No one was hurt.

Truck owned by Edward Wallace, used to haul coal from a mine in McQueen's run to Irondale, was too heavy for the McQueen's run bridge and the truck, bridge and coal dropped 10 feet into the creek.

Turn Out on Memorial Day

For the first time in many years, all East Liverpool organizations of former service men will join hands on Thursday in observance of Memorial day, originally designated as a day of homage for the men who made the supreme sacrifice in the Civil war but now a day for all men who served under the colors.

Tribute to the soldier and sailor dead will be paid by the Grand Army of the Republic, Sons of Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion, representing those who participated in the struggles of 1861 and 1893 and the world conflict. All will march in the afternoon parade and participate in the services which will be held at Riverview cemetery.

Every effort will be made by the respective posts to have a record number of members in line. Auxiliary orders, Boy Scouts, school children and City, East Liverpool and Wellsville high school and Salvation Army bands will be among the marchers. Fraternal societies have been invited, but heretofore comparatively few of their members have responded.

As a mark of respect for the men who have died, as well as in recognition of the sacrifices made by the living in defense of the flag, let's turn out on Memorial day.

Law Enforcement Commission

President Hoover has selected a law enforcement commission of 10 men and one woman and critics are silent before the strength of the appointees. It is reasonable to suppose that the president exerted his utmost effort to guarantee the commission's success by careful selection, because, in his opinion, they are to investigate the most important question before the American people.

Every member of the commission is a student of law and has been recognized as an authority. The avowed purpose in the creation of the group was to make a searching investigation of the structure of the federal system and to make recommendations for reorganization of the administration of federal law and court procedure. No group other than one composed of lawyers would be fitted to undertake such a task. It is interesting to note that prohibition investigation is mentioned as an incidental function of the commission and that the name, prohibition commission, assigned to them is really a misnomer.

Drys and wets alike should be satisfied with the apparent balance of sentiment in the group. There are enough confirmed drys to give a fair presentation, enough acknowledged wets to keep matters straight and a goodly number of members who are not definitely aligned with either side of the issue. Since their considerations are to be largely confined to the reconstruction of the administrative functions of government, the question of personal prejudice when prohibition enforcement is considered should be minimized as nearly as possible. It is conceded that the president has made a wise selection and the findings and recommendations of the group will be received with interest.

Vacations

The vacation is the middle-class individual's symbol of success. It is a manifestation of his superiority over the laborer whose only vacations are enforced ones without pay. It is a step toward the shining goal held by the wealthy man whose vacation periods are left up to his fancy. It is a realization of the deep-seated dream of everyone to be without responsibility, if only for a few weeks.

Why do most people travel during vacations? Why do they not stay at home and rest? It is a flattering reflection upon the work done by the millions of vacation-privileged citizens of the country that they exert more effort in their play than they do in their work. It may, as vacation plans often show, be solely physical effort, but the kind of rest that is sought in the vacation period is not one of total inactivity. It is one of new interests and fresh experiences. Frequently, that could be gained by examination of one's own surroundings, or a condensed reading course, but there is enough of the gypsy in the various vacationist to demand a foreign expedition of some nature or other.

The saddest summer sight is the man or woman or the couple who have never learned how to get all the enjoyment they need out of their work. Life should be lived from day to day, each 24 hours with its portion of play and its portion of work. The nose that is kept upon the grindstone too long cannot smell the flowers, just as the nose that is used entirely for smelling flowers is of little use for grinding purposes. Vacations are popular, because they afford the opportunity for protracted flowersmelling and work is attractive because it provides the money to buy the perfume.

Better Shortcake

Last year's record strawberry crop will be exceeded this spring. This is great news, for as William Butler, described by Roger Williams as "one of the chiefest doctors of England," said, three centuries ago, "Doubtless God could have made a better berry, but doubtless God never did."

The department of agriculture is trying to introduce some South American berries, of species with which this country is not acquainted. Great expectations are entertained for them. But it is a fairly safe assumption that no new berry will displace the strawberry in national affection. The increasing size of the crop reflects increasing demand, which is due to enhanced appreciation of the fruit.

The nation's shortcake, a correspondent says, apropos of the huge crop in sight, is to be the biggest on record. But it not only will be bigger but better.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 27.—On May 30, when Americans are decorating the graves of their hero dead, the people of Great Britain will be holding one of the most important and certainly the most unusual general election ever held in that kingdom. The importance lies in the fact that the conservative and the somewhat radical elements are in a gigantic struggle; the uniqueness lies in the fact that it is a woman's election.

When, as the result of longer and more sensational agitation than characterized the campaign of American women to obtain the vote, British women finally won that privilege it did not extend nearly so far as did the woman suffrage amendment to the constitution in the United States. Only women of thirty years and over were permitted to vote. But last year parliament passed the equal franchise act which reduced the age limit to 21 years, as in this country. In view of the fact that women substantially outnumber men in the island kingdom this means that there are more women than men prepared to express their preference on May 30.

Speaking of voters alone, women outnumber men in all but 35 of the 615 constituencies where ballots are to be cast. Specifically women voters outnumber men voters in London by 75,567; in Liverpool by 23,864; in Leeds by 24,480; and in Bradford by 21,884. The equal franchise act added some five million women voters. It will be noted that the cities named are all great industrial centers and the numerical superiority of what Englishmen call the flapper vote in those places gives promise of majorities for the Labor party candidates or at least for the Liberals as opposed to the Conservatives who now are in power.

A straw which indicates the wind may be found in the result of a by-election—that is, a local election to fill a vacancy in the house of commons—held last March. Jenny Lee, daughter of a Scotch miner, defeated Lord Seone, son of a peer of the realm, by 1,571 to 9,133. A comparison with the previous election in this district, East Lanarkshire, is illuminating. In 1924 the Conservative candidate won with a vote of 13,580 while the Labor candidate polled but 11,825. It will be seen that the proportions were just turned around in favor of the young Laborite school teacher.

The house of commons is a more numerous body than our house of representatives. The general election will decide the fate of more national legislators than did our own last November and will cost as much, perhaps more. Six hundred and fifteen members are to be elected from approximately 1,500 candidates in the field. The old parliament came to an end May 10. It was one of the longest in recent years having served just six months short of the legal maximum for a single parliament which is five years. The new parliament, elected May 30, will assemble early in June.

No president is elected in Great Britain but a general election provides the equivalent in that the political party which elects the most members to parliament has the right to choose the prime minister.

Here are the three major parties contending: The Conservative party, which has been in power for some time. Stanley Baldwin, prime minister, will continue in that position if the Conservatives win. The Liberal party, headed by David Lloyd George, former prime minister. If the Liberals win, Lloyd George again will take command of the ship of state. The Labor party, headed by James Ramsay MacDonald and the Laborites win MacDonald, the only Labor prime minister Great Britain ever had, will again hold that position.

The Conservatives won a majority of 211 seats in the commons at the last general election. The Labor party comes second with the Liberals trailing a bad third. But there have been many changes in conditions and in sentiment and both Liberals and Laborites are credited with a good chance of ousting the Conservative government and replacing Stanley Baldwin.

Of special importance to Americans is the fact that the Labor party, if successful in the election, will seek to bring about a re-writing of the debt funding agreement with the United States to provide easier terms for Great Britain. The five million additional women voters who will go to the polls this year are expected to make a sensational showing in favor of prohibition. It is estimated conservatively that between one and one-half and two million voters are going to the polls pledged, not to outright prohibition, but to a temperance program.

Questions And Answers

By Frederic J. Haskin.

Did you ever write a letter to Frederic J. Haskin? You can ask him any question of fact and get the answer in a personal letter. Here is a great educational idea introduced into the lives of the most intelligent people in the world—American newspaper readers. It is a part of that best purpose of a newspaper—service. There is no charge except two cents in coin or stamps for return postage. Address Frederic J. Haskin, Director, the East Liverpool Review Information Bureau, Washington, D. C.

Q. In what American cities are the four largest and most expensive theatres? L. S. S.

A. The editor of the Film Daily says that the Roxy is the largest as well as the most expensive theatre that has been built in the United States. The next three, not necessarily in order, are: Paramount, New York City; Fox, St. Louis; Fox, Detroit.

Q. How many steps are there in quick time marching and in double time marching? A. A.

A. The leader of the United States Marine band says that there are 128 steps to the minute in quick time; 180 steps in double time.

Q. Where is the government fox farm? A. C.

A. It is located at Saratoga Springs, New York.

Q. When was preferred stock first issued by corporations as a part of their capital structures? C. G. A.

A. Preferred stocks came into existence with the railroad reorganizations of the nineteenth century and were used, as they are used today, to give investors something better than common shares, but not quite as safe as bonds.

Q. How is hail formed? W. R. L.

A. The summer hail, or true hail, is caused by the rapid uprush of air in a violent thunderstorm which carries raindrops so high that they freeze. On freezing they fall back to a lower level where they pick up more water and again are caught in an upward current and carried up to the freezing levels. This is repeated several times until the hailstones gets so heavy that it falls through the rising air down to the earth. The winter hail properly called sleet, consists of frozen raindrops, the rain having fallen through a surface layer of cold air.

Q. When were coaster brakes put on bicycles? C. H.

A. Coaster brakes first came into common use on bicycles about 1902.

Q. Who composed Alexander's Ragtime Band? W. A. J.

A. It was written by Irving Berlin in 1911.

Ritzy Rosalie

Rosalie's beach suit, in keeping with the times, grows briefer but more stylish. To be up to the minute one's back must be sun-tanned, and for one's back to become sun-tanned it must be uncovered, so the new suits have no back at all, and use crossed straps in back to hold up the front which has become a sort of bib. Of course, at times it is desirable that the back be covered, and for this purpose Rosalie has a coat to match which is sleeveless, though for the young wearers what is really a jersey cardigan is the thing. The colors, needless to say, are of the brightest, and in modernistic effects. While the collapsible cretonne or straw beach hat is expected to be given favor, Rosalie prefers the matching bandana, which is shown here. Matching rubber high heeled beach shoes resembling street foot-wear completes the outfit.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, May 27.—Diary of a modern Perys: Up and a fine letter from our old pastor Harry B. Lewis and to the most unsatisfying breakfast I ever ate of fried herring, the pineapple and cocoa. Came Clair Maxwell and Norman B. Anthony, Jr., and we discussed our various jousts with journalism.

All afternoon trying to discard a few worn clothes and longed for an attic, it being especially difficult to part with old shoes. Then walked through the colorful Faddy's market with its shouting hub-bub and elbow-jabbing and bought sassafras to make tea.

In the evening with my wife to call on Florence Simrah from Lexington and to a Syrian café and colorful, too, with strange odors and a crane told fortunes. Walked home and passed the Morgan mansion where the pipe smoking watchmen always keep silent vigil and read Chic Sales hilarious book "The Specialist."

Trained animal acts are almost of the past in vaudeville and the larger circuses. S. P. C. A. propaganda, stressing cruelty dumb beasts often endure, and frequent arrests of their owners, are largely responsible. Too, the picturesque vagabonds with velvet coats and rings in their ears who journey forth each spring with performing bears are thinning. A half hundred used to winter in a little Jersey town. This spring only eight set off on wandering migrations to a thousand Main streets.

Tony, leading his methicaten brain into town by a nose ring, was a welcome relief in the monotonous tedium of a small town 25 years ago. Tony's nomadic life offered an enthralling touch of romance to those of us who had never been out of the country. Tony came from an entirely different world and his odd tongue awakened wonder. Adored by youngsters, he was a nuisance to grown-ups for his bear caused runaways. A horse is often terror stricken by the smell of a bear and many teams bolted before Tony crossed the lower Chicauga bridge into town.

Yet nothing topped the excitement of a good runaway. It happened so suddenly. One moment the street was inert and the next galvanized into an electrical expectancy. Around the corner corner bell-for-leath-er came the frightened horse, nostrils dilated and eyes flashing, while the vehicle careened crazily from side to side. Everybody made a half-hearted attempt to stop it but it usually wound up with a crash against a telephone post. Then the horse, all lathered and steaming, was led meekly through town to the stable. And there was something to talk about for days.

A circus parade was always good for a few hair-raising runaways. The manager of the circus—even John Ringling used to perform the rite—drove in advance of the parade warning farmers to "hold your horses, the elephants are coming!" Runaways were costly in damage suits and too many resulted in the "Hey Rubel!" call to battle on the circus lot.

A musical show presents a group of the Gibson girls of the Nineties, but not half the audience sees the humor of their sailor hat and tailored suit costume of the period. They are too young, but you should see the old boys chuckle.

A gentleman who saw the high brow conversational play "Serena Blandish" writes in he doesn't know whether it was "too serena" or "too blandish" but he muffed it.

From a magazine article: "The small town visitor should embrace New York as a rousing adventure. He should be first up and last to retire. Go places, see things in the Manhattan tempo. And what does it matter if he staggers to his hotel at the first glint of the sun?"

It doesn't matter a whole lot, but some of the boys have caught their necks in revolving doors doing that.

A hog-calling contest is announced for a New York farm exhibition and only a desperate need to fill two miles lined could induce us to say it will all sound like a lot of hoo-ee-ey!

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

"Cleanliness is next to Godliness"—I am not sure that godliness is quite so easy to acquire as all that.

Few people realize that a clean skin is the finest evidence of a clean body. If your stomach is disordered in its functions, if your teeth need attention, if you are nervous, in fact if your system does not function properly in every way, your skin signals the warning.

There may be a roughness of the skin, pimples, red spots, blotches or even blackheads. These may appear without other warning. They show that something is wrong.

Young people particularly are subject to skin eruptions.

Many a young person has a face peppered with blackheads. Indeed, the face looks exactly as if particles of black pepper had been sprinkled over an inflamed and pimply surface.

When pressed between the thumb nails, a mass like a black-headed worm can be squeezed out of the skin. When left in place these blackheads produce results not unlike the effects of foreign bodies in the tissues. Pretty soon the skin festers, forming a red pimple. When the pimple breaks and the pus discharges the blackhead may escape. If it does not, the same process may be repeated and, each time, the skin is involved more deeply.

The deeper into the tissues the pus burrows the larger the scar. Sometimes the swelling is great, perhaps the size of a pea. When it finally breaks and discharges, there is sure to be considerable scar when it heals. Even after the acute condition has disappeared entirely, permanent marks will be left.

In what I have said about the causes, there have been plenty of hints as to the cure. Some of these suggestions I will emphasize.

Make sure that your teeth are sound. It is important advice for two reasons: In the first place, you need to have good teeth in order to chew your food properly. In the next place the pus from decayed or abscessed teeth may be a factor in causing acne.

You will eat green vegetables, cooked or in salad, more than has been your custom. Fruit should be taken regularly.

The blackheads must be removed. To do this, wash your face and hands thoroughly with an abundance of soap and water. Boil a watch key or hair-pin to make it sterile. Then press out the blackheads, being very careful in the process. Don't remove too many at each sitting, but persist in the matter till they have been taken out to the very last one.

Plenty of soap and water used freely is the first essential to cleanliness. Do not overlook its value. By keeping the skin clean you will help to escape having blackheads.

Answers to Health Queries.

W. L. W. Q.—What do you advise for dry hair?

A.—Brush the hair daily and use a good tonic. For further particulars send self addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

A READER. Q. Do you advise treatment for whiteheads?

2.—What can be done for constipation?

A.—Yes. For details send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

2.—The diet must be corrected.

L. D. Q.—What would cause white spots to appear on the lips? Here-fore my lips have been red and healthy looking.

A.—This condition is due to loss of pigment or coloring matter in the skin. The exact cause is uncertain and there is no specific cure.

M. T. Q.—What can be done for blue veins above the knee?

A.—You are probably troubled with varicose veins. If the varicose veins are slight, bandaging or wearing an elastic stocking is often effective, but in most cases surgical procedure is necessary.

FLUMP. Q.—How can I reduce?

A.—Weight reduction is merely a matter of self-control as regards the diet. Exercise is, of course, essential.

Other Editors Say

The Hoover Method.

Members of congress and other observers in Washington are discussing the so-called Hoover method of transacting public business, including the handling of political affairs. The Hoover method, it seems, is simply the method employed by skilled business executives.

Mr. Hoover, the reports say, declines to trouble himself about details of administration and minor appointments. He determines policies, lays down broad principles, indicates objectives and explains purposes to be attained, but leaves everything else to heads of departments or of bureaus. If these heads are efficient, alert and experienced, they do not need to bother the president with minor questions arising in the administration of public affairs.

That the Hoover method is effective in business is certain. It is indeed the only method possible to competent executives with many important matters to occupy their attention. Doubts now said to exist in certain anxious minds in Washington have to do with the applicability of the method to public affairs, which move in an aura of politics.

But why should doubts exist? Is it necessary for the president of the United States to devote hours daily to interviews with job seekers, with proponents of budget items, or minor bills? Whatever the practice may have been, it is common sense and business sense to relegate all such matters to department heads and their assistants.

Some political stuffed shirts may think themselves slighted, but, once the policy is understood, the great majority of persons interested in legislation, administration and appointments will concede its eminent propriety. The president's time should be conserved for major problems and issues.—Chicago News.

Once Overs

By J. J. Mundy.

Is Your Vacation Worth It? Does your vacation usually necessitate a larger expenditure than you can afford?

Do you worry and grumble about expenses for week before you start on your trip, and for months afterward? It isn't worth it and does you no good under such circumstances.

If your vacation outlay cramps you financially for the ensuing year you are paying too dearly for it. Why not wait another year and be satisfied for the time being with a simple rest nearer home, or possibly on your own front porch.

To scrimp and save for a whole year just to be lavish for a couple of weeks is foolish, you lose the benefit that an annual rest should bring in this way.

If worry about expense enters into your vacation plans you are working on the wrong system.

You may be one of many couples who consider that two weeks of "real living," as they call it, is worth coming for the time being to get the where-withal.

But why be unhappy so long for such a short period of pleasure?

Doing what you can afford brings true happiness.

Pottery City Week By Week

With Apologies to O. O. McIntyre

Henry C. Goodwin, retired pottery manufacturer, is perhaps the longest distance pedestrian in this locality. For years he has been a believer in the physical effects to be derived from the use of leg muscles on dirt roadways.

It has been long an ordinary thing for him to ride to Lisbon and walk back.

He knows how to encircle the city from any point and is in personal knowledge of all of the roadways, avenues and lanes in proximity to it.

Just the other day he was impromptu by relatives to take a ride with them. Having a lunch packed he agreed. When they had reached a point some 20 miles away, he left the car. Pausing long enough to partake of his food he trekked back and reached his home here at Sixth and Monroe streets in time for his 6 o'clock dinner.

But this is not all of this interesting 20-mile trudge for in the negotiating of it he traversed four counties of three states. He left the automobile in which he had been riding in Allegheny county, Pa. Then he passed through Beaver county of the same state, Hancock county, W. Va., and finally wended his way from the river bridge through Columbiana county, Ohio, to his own fireside. Allowing 2,300 steps to the mile, he figures, he swung his legs 46,000 times to conclude the journey.

Thus in his early seventies Mr. Goodwin is imitating to some extent the accomplishments of the late Mr. Weston.

East Liverpool clubmen had about nine organizations in the Ohio Federation of Clubs which recently held its annual meeting in Dayton. Something of the purpose of the combined activity of these units of women may be gleaned from a recent report of Mrs. E. W. Jones, a district president, who said "the clubs had contributed to all worthy causes of humanity." She notes definite progress in the following outlines of work: "Our Forests—They Shall Not Perish; A State Park Every Hundred Miles! Child Labor—It Shall Cease; Education for Youth and Adult; Swat the Billboard and See the Scenery; Legislation for Mothers and Babies; Where There is a Will There is Health; No Diphtheria in 1930; The Play's the Thing; Articles Made by the Blind in Every Home of Club Women; Supervised Play in Every Community; For Every Child, a Fair Chance; Rural and Town Clubs in County Federation; No Politics in State Welfare Work; Memorial Books for Club Members in Public Libraries; Exhibits to illustrate Cultural Progress; Better Homes; World Peace Through Arbitration."

During 1861, in "The Mercury," East Liverpool's first newspaper, appeared notices of the installation of what was represented as a "Fashionable Saleen." Thus was it commented upon: "We take this method of announcing to the citizens of East Liverpool that there has been opened in the building adjoining The Exchange on Second street a place in which it is proposed to keep constantly on hand and serving up at all seasonable hours during the autumn and winter fresh oysters, tripe, lobsters, pig's feet, confectionaries, ale and beer. Ladies and gentlemen are respectfully invited to call."

It is difficult to envision Sixth street and much of the interesting territory from what is now the City park to the brewery on the Horn switch of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad as having been for a day at least covered with white tents in which were domiciled the Union troops during the Civil war. They were trying to stop the rebel raider, Gen. John Morgan, from reaching the Ohio river just at the foot of Babbs island and forcing across into West Virginia. They were here many of them on that hot day in July when at West Point Gen. Morgan was captured. Then this section of the city was open ground, practically farming territory, with many trees jutting it.

"MAN I LOVE" CERAMIC BILL

Two of screen's most popular younger players, Mary Brian and Richard Arlen, have the leading roles in Paramount's latest all-talking picture of thrills and romance, "The Man I Love." And Mary Brian's voice is heard for the first time from the screen singing "Celia," the song written especially for her. This is the attraction which will entertain at the Ceramic theater, starting today, for three days.

The picture deals with the ups and downs of a pair of young sweethearts. The boy goes to New York and, when the girl follows him there, she finds that he has yielded to the charms of a wealthy society woman. Through this woman's influence, he has made a great success. The girl's efforts to reclaim him are fruitless until, in an exciting incident, another lover of the society woman wounds the boy. Then the girl wins.

Baclanova, the Moscow Art theater prima donna who has had a quick rise to fame on the American screen, has the role of the wealthy society woman. Inimitable bits of comedy are introduced by Harry Green of vaudeville fame and the irresistible Jack Oakie.

Dialogue enhances the action of the drama.

BOYD IS STAR IN 'LEATHERNECK'

William Boyd, who is widely known as "the one hundred per cent American star," has a one hundred per cent American picture in "The Leatherneck," his newest Pathe star production which comes to the State theater today.

This story of the U. S. Marines is not a flag-waving spectacle, but a human and intensely gripping drama of three "Devil Dogs" and their adventures in France, Russia and China, told in a most unusual manner and plentifully sprinkled with comedy.

Alan Hale and Robert Armstrong are Boyd's two buddies and their rollicking experiences vest the picture with much of the appeal that characterized both "The Three Musketeers" and "Beau Geste." Fred Kohler, as the villain, Mitchell Lewis, Jules Cowles, Jimmy Aldine, Paul Weigel and Philo McCullough add to the unusual strength of the cast. Diane Ellis, a new screen discovery, plays opposite the star.

TRAGIC ROMANCE AT AMERICAN

History as it happened and not as a scenario imagined it is to be seen on the screen of the American theater today when First National's big production, "The Divine Lady," opens its local engagement.

"The Divine Lady," with Corinne Griffith in the starring role, tells the somewhat tragic romance of Lady Hamilton and Lord Nelson. Actual historic personages, instead of mythical characters thrust into the plot, are the central figures of the story and their lives are dealt with exactly as historians have recorded them. Miss Griffith has what many believe to be her greatest screen role as the unforunate beauty, Lady Hamilton. Victor Varconi, as Lord Nelson, and H. B. Warner as Lord Hamilton, have roles of almost equal prominence.

K. C. INITIATE CLASS OF 100

E. Liverpool Represented At Warren Degree Work.

A large class of East Liverpool, Wellsville, Salineville, East Palestine and Salem candidates were among those initiated in the second and third degrees by Knights of Columbus of Columbiana and Trumbull counties at Warren yesterday afternoon.

The second degree was conferred by Warren council, while the third degree was in charge of Supreme Director Thomas J. Duffy, of Columbus, formerly of East Liverpool, and staff.

District Deputy Frank H. Waldeck, of Alliance, Fourth Degree Master George O'Brien of Alliance and Duffy were the principal speakers at the banquet which was held in St. Mary's school auditorium.

Recently initiated East Liverpool members will be guests of honor at a special meeting of Carroll council, No. 509, in the Knights of Columbus lodge rooms in the Ingram building, Diamond, at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

YOUNGEST SLAYER PLAYS AT HOME

PAINTSVILLE, Ky., May 27.—(INS)—The world's youngest convicted murderer, Carl Newton Mahan, 6 years old, today played with a "choo choo train," happily unconcerned over the 15-year sentence that hangs over him for the shotgun slaying of his little playmate, 8-year-old Cecil Vanhoose, following a childish quarrel.

A writ of prohibition restraining the imposition of the long term in a state reform school was issued on behalf of the young slayer Saturday. Meanwhile the boy has romped about the home of his parents in happy ignorance of the severity of the penalty.

The boy and his parents appear to be the object of sympathy in every place save Paintsville itself.

Vets Attend Services

The organ prelude by the organist, Mrs. T. C. Flick, "Hymn of Glory," by Yon and "Tenting Tonight" by Root were significant in their martial tendencies. Directed by the Rev. Charles R. Loney, the assistant pastor, the choir sang the anthem, "To Thee, O Country," by Eichberg, and a male quartet consisting of the Rev. Mr. Loney, Arthur J. Savage, Mark Brownlow and George Myler, contributed "Once More We Meet," by Tower. Following the hymn, "The Lord Is In His Temple," "America" was sung by the audience. Other hymns sung were: "Our Fathers God To Thee We Raise" and "Lord, While For Mankind We Pray." The organ postlude was "Lest We Forget" by Wreford.

Pastor's Father Was Veteran.

The First Methodist church of East Liverpool is honored by the presence of these G. A. R. veterans and those of subsequent wars with their accompanying auxiliaries, said the Rev. Mr. Hawkins, "I count it a high privilege to speak to you. Indeed I conceive my highest claim to distinction to be the fact that for 50 years following the war between the states my father wore the blue and a bronze button as a member of your organization. I shall go early Thursday morning across the state to stand again beside his grave as it is decorated with flowers commemorative of the part he took with you in that warfare."

He chose as his text the words regarding the Roman Centurion who wanted a favor from the Christ in that his daughter was ill: "For he loveth our nation and built us a synagogue."

"Patriotism and religion harmonized in this army officer," he said. "He was patriotic and thus became a lover of the country. He loved God in that he aided in the building of synagogues. Happy is that man, community and state in which religion and patriotism are so blended and mingled as to appear a blessing of God."

"Russia," he said, "made a mistake in attempting to seek liberty without religion."

He declared the much used new word "Internationalism" when the so doing necessitated the failure to love one's own country first and best. "My own country, not right or wrong, but my country ever aspiring for the right," he said.

Urges Appreciation of Religions.

"Every American should be able to ever sing with pride 'America' and 'The Star Spangled Banner' without fearing to hurt any one else's opinions," he observed. "One should be able to always love his own wife without hating some other woman, his own home without having to harm others. The better husband I am the better I serve the world and the better family that is maintained the better the internationalism that is demanded."

Memorial day, he held, afforded the best possible school for patriotism throughout the country.

He declared it to be wise for students to first study the history of peoples from whom Americans originated in order to better understand the sources whence they came and thus the better apprehend their present ideals and possessions.

That in this manner could a proper appreciation of the questions involved in race relationships be recognized and adjusted, he averred. "There should be no race hatred in America," he continued, "for America is the great haven for all. Under the flag they have the same rights."

He declared "Intolerance" an ugly, bad word. "If I were to say to you that I tolerate you at this service you would consider it an insult; likewise my family if I were to assert that I but tolerate their presence in the home. I plead for an appreciation of all religions."

He noted the act of a Hebrew soldier during the World war holding the cross before the eyes of a dying Catholic comrade. "In the emergencies of life we see petty differences and things fall away," he said. "We seek today as did our fathers to maintain religious and civil freedom."

FOUR UNHURT REPORTS FROM IN AIR CRASH STOCK MARKETS

New Plane Tips Tree And Falls at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, O., May 27.—(INS)—Death, the dread spectre which stalks in the skies in the wake of aviators, again rolled the mythical dice of fate yesterday—this time for the lives of four men—and lost.

Testing a new Travelair plane, A. C. Rigney, pilot, and three mechanics hopped off from the Watson airport here just as dusk settled over Cincinnati and its environs last night.

All went well, and as the men nodded their heads in silent agreement of another test flight successfully completed, the new plane "tipped" the top of a tall tree and nose-dived into the ground.

Rigney attempted to straighten the plane out but failed. It crashed.

He and his companions crawled from the wreckage unhurt.

A ground crew responded to a call, and just as the men approached the wrecked plane, the gasoline tank exploded.

Rigney and his assistants had a double escape from death. It was a "lucky break" that they were not injured in the crash or in the plane when the tank exploded.

The plane was burned up. It had cost $13,500.

150 RESCUED AS LINER GOES DOWN

SEATTLE, Wash., May 27.—(INS)—The U. S. Geodetic Survey vessel Surveyor was proceeding to port today with 150 persons taken of the ill-fated Seattle liner Aleutian just before it sank in Larsen bay, off Kodiak Island, yesterday morning.

The Aleutian, property of the Alaskan Steamship company, is reported to have struck a submerged rock. Her wireless calls for help were answered by the Surveyor.

Of those aboard at the time of the accident, 135 made up the crew. Fifteen cannery workers were passengers. Financial loss in the wreck was estimated at $1,000,000.

Baccalaureate Sermon

have a higher education.

"The world today wants, above everything else, men of common sense, backed by a good, honest, willing soul. Don't think that you can be dishonest in little things and grow up into an honest, dependable man or woman."

Good Home Greatest University.

"In all things be conscientious, have willpower. Don't do things simply because others do them. Don't be a slave to public opinion. Don't be ashamed of your home, no matter how humble it might be. Many of the world's greatest men came from humble homes. A humble home is almost essential to greatness. A good home is the greatest university on earth and a good mother the greatest teacher."

"Many a boy or girl who might have been great are making miserable failures because they have the wrong idea of life. If we are living just to get a living we have not as much right to live as the horse, the cow or sheep. You are in the world to serve."

"Throw your life into the place where the need of the world is greatest, where with your talents and your ability you can serve your fellow man best where your life will count most for God and man. It is not important what you shall do as how you shall do it."

"You are now living your life. Death does not end your life and eternity depends on how much you are developed. Most people are not prepared to live and therefore only live a per cent or less of their possible lives. Don't be foolish enough to think your will is so strong that you will become good and great while associating with bad company. We are influenced by every thought that passes through our minds."

"You will never master anything worth while until you have mastered yourself. Self control is at the root of all virtues—loss of it at the root of all vices."

"But the road to success is uphill and very stormy all the way. A life worth while is a life of toil and conscientious labor. Honor is due you. You are to be honored for what you have done but more for what you are."

Nelly Don Proved Lovely Bright-Colored Frocks as Practical as the Old-Fashioned Drab Ones

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Nelly Don hated drab house dresses. So she made gay ones—only a few at first. They sold amazingly. Now her business totals $2,000,000 a year.

In spite of hard wear, they are practical, she finds. Because with modern Lux cleansing they wear and wear!

"The very best way to wash the lovely, bright colored materials we use," Nelly Don says, "is with Lux. Lux has no harmful alkali and with Lux there is no rubbing."

No matter how delicate a color or pattern, it can be washed in Lux time after time—often for years—and still look just like new."

NEW YORK, May 27.—(INS)—Jack Dempsey turned his back on Broadway today and announced his retirement from the boxing promotion business in New York—at least temporarily—in favor of Chicago.

The former heavyweight champion of the world declared that his association with Humbert J. Fugazy and Edward Cole was terminated because a suitable outdoor arena here for boxing exhibitions could not be obtained.

$600 RAISED ON POPPY DAY

Legion Reports Funds For Memorial Program Here.

More than $600 was collected by East Liverpool post, No. 4, American Legion, in the "Poppy day" observance here Saturday, post officers announced today.

The poppies were sold by members of Troop 42, Boy Scouts of America, directed by Earl Mosher, scout master, and members of the Women's auxiliary, of which Mrs. J. H. Browne is president. Approximately 7,000 cloth poppies, made by French war orphans, were sold.

The money will be used in defraying the expense of the Memorial day observance and also for limited relief work among disabled and unemployed former service men, member of their families and orphans.

Officers of the post today extended thanks to all workers for their services and to the general public for their support of the Poppy Day sale.

is necessary, because aviation on the proper scale would be impossible with drunken pilots. How would it be to have pilots that keep sober? France will never have prohibition, nor Britain, nor Germany. But they fly and their pilots are not drunkards.

If a pilot ate seven pieces of mince pie, with a Welsh rabbit on each pie, he could not drive properly. But it is necessary to pass laws against mince pies?

TWO planes, about to fly to Europe were told by radio: "One Thousand miles of adverse weather over the Atlantic. Heavy rains on the other side. Wise to postpone flight." They postponed accordingly, starting, perhaps, this morning.

It is difficult to realize the amazing fact that, at this moment, no civilized human being is separated from any part of the world, as to information, by more than one-fourteenth part of a second.

NO ONE can be farther away from another than half the distance around the earth. It takes one-fourteenth of a second for radio to travel that distance, going 168,000 miles a second. Any American might know what happened in China within the last eight hundred and fortieth part of a minute.

MARS, when we become worthy of attention from that civilization, millions of years older than our barbarism, will tell us by radio: "Our scientists announced such a discovery, four minutes ago, by Earth Greenwich time."

It is not merely a small world, it is a small solar system.

IN KENTUCKY a boy six was sentenced to the reformatory for 15 years. Another judge set aside the sentence. Not a trial but an examination by competent authorities is needed.

IF THE boy at large would menace others restraint is necessary. But 15 years in a reformatory would surely turn him out more dangerous to society than any boy could be at 6 years of age. It seems outrageous to imprison for 15 years a boy of that age.

But civilization hangs many men with minds not more than seven years old. An unconscious longing for revenge has something to do with that.

INTERESTING SPORTS SUITS

(Posed by Doris Hill)

Red, white and blue is no longer the exclusive color combination of our nation's emblem. Fashion experts discovered the tri-colored combine which fashions the smart sports suit on the right. The jacket is brightly blue, flaunting a blouse of red and white shaded stripes, the shoes are red. Animated blue-grey creates an interesting mixture for the tweed suit on the left. A grey silk blouse is worn tucked-in style and the gayly printed scarf repeats the color combination. A youthful beret of dark blue completes this ensemble.

Speaker's Wife Involved In Washington Social War

Left, Mrs. Longworth, wife of the Speaker, and Mrs. Gann, on the right, sister of Vice-President Curtis, whose social status is still undetermined.

Mrs. Longworth Refuses To Attend Meyer's Dinner.

From all indications the social war centered around the status of Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, sister of Vice-President Curtis, has apparently broken out anew. The new controversy involves Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, the wife of the Speaker of the House of Representatives, in its tangles.

A renewal of the discussion concerning the seating of Mrs. Gann was unexpectedly brought about after invitations had been sent out for a dinner by Mrs. Eugene Meyer, Jr., whose husband had recently retired from the chairmanship of the Federal Loan Board.

Mrs. Longworth, who is a daughter of Theodore Roosevelt, when informed of the seating arrangements, sent her regrets. Mrs. Gann, in turn, when informed of Mrs. Longworth's refusal to attend the dinner, also sent her regrets.

That, as far as can be learned, is the cause of the new outbreak in the social war. Considerable speculation as to why it happened and what will happen further, is heard on every hand in the drawing rooms and clubs throughout Washington.

Of chief interest among such speculation is the seriousness of the situation—a situation having Mrs. Gann, as hostess for the presiding officer of the Senate, on one side, and the wife of the presiding officer of the House of Representatives on the other.

The whole story was given credence by reports which have flowed about Washington ever since the question arose, that the precedence obtained by the diplomatic corps decision would never be permitted Mrs. Gann by some members of official society—particularly by Senatorial ladies.

Hamburg Wants Night Fliers.

Hamburg, Germany, is demanding that it be included in the present plans for night flying services that are to cover all Europe. The promoters of the service say that the favorable position of the city with its day services does not necessitate it having a place in nocturnal flights. While Hamburg authorities admit this they contend that the great importance of their city as a commercial center demands that it should be included. They point out that Hamburg is the junction for air service from Scandinavian countries, and it should at least have night-service connection with Berlin and Rhine via Bremen to enable passengers arriving late in the day to continue their journey.

IOWA SLUSH FUND CHARGE PUTS BIG 10 IN TURMOIL

Hawkeyes Planning Comeback

Showdown is Needed
Says Ohio State Director.

CHICAGO, May 27.—A battle royal within the Big Ten conference loomed today following the expulsion of the University of Iowa for alleged renegeing and subsidizing of athletes. A storm of protest from the Hawkeye institution and among Iowa alumni here contained charges that Iowa is no more guilty than other universities in the Western conference.

"If Iowa is thrown out, the alumni will see to it that others go out with her," was the belligerent attitude of the alumni association, headed by the Chicago chapter.

Major John L. Griffith, Big Ten commissioner, in his first public statement since the sudden and secret expulsion of Iowa late Saturday, declared last night that conditions in the Western conference "are getting worse."

Griffith, though guarded in his statements, intimated that conference officials are not yet through cleaning house. He invited all those with knowledge of conference rule violations to tell what they know to him.

Several Big Ten athletic directors, who would not allow their names to be used, admitted that other conference schools are not above suspicion.

The Chicago chapter of Iowa alumni today threatened action to compel conference officials to make public their specific charges which promoted the expulsion of Iowa. This will be in the form of a federal injunction restraining enforcement of the ouster, it was indicated.

COLUMBUS, O., May 27.—The expulsion of Iowa from the Big Ten will cause other schools of that conference to "take stock of themselves," said L. W. St. John, director of athletics at the Ohio State university here today in commenting on the action.

According to International News Service wires from the western city, Iowa was "kicked out" for subsidizing athletes, which means aiding athletes in a material way.

"The act will prove a benefit to college athletes in the long run," St. John was of the opinion.

"I have felt for some time," the Ohio State university monitor declared, "that a start should be made at some point in correcting certain conditions in college athletics, but I am sorry to see Iowa or any other institution made the starting point."

When He's There, They Win, Away, They Lose.

By Davis J. Walsh.
NEW YORK, May 27.—For a matter of twenty-seven years, which may be designated as a fairly long time to pitch pennies, it has been conceded, both by those who know and those who don't, that the New York Giants are John McGraw, today, the concession becomes an absolute avowal, forfeited by the additional acknowledgment that John McGraw is the Giants.

That much is self-evident in the light of developments during the last few days; you couldn't miss the thing if it was hiding behind an elephant.

With McGraw on the bench, the Giants won their fifth straight ball game yesterday. Without him, they weren't able to win that many in two weeks, a performance that set our emotional populace to gibbering with great freedom.

"What's the matter with the Giants?" asked they. They ought to have known better. There was nothing the matter with the Giants. They were all right but the trouble was that McGraw wasn't. His illness started on May 10 with the club in first division. It ended five days ago with the club rallying brilliantly to stay out of the third division. I know there is no third division but the club almost found it.

Anyhow, McGraw's illness and the slump that had seen the Giants blow seven out of ten ended simultaneously. When you get data like that, don't waste further time. Go straight down to the paymaster and start balancing the books. The case is closed like father's black eye.

To be candid about it, this club has a "dependency complex" in its most malignant form. Some of the bright lads on the ball club may not care for McGraw in a big way but they can't play ball for anyone else and most of them admit it. Freddy Lindstrom is one of these. He never felt the urge to embrace Mr. McGraw on sight but today he was more than willing to render Mr. John the things that obviously are John's.

"It means an awful lot to this club to look over at that bench and see McGraw there doing his stuff," said Freddie. "He's more than half the ball game as far as I am concerned. I don't know anything about other managers but, for my money, he'd do until a better one turns up."

This may be accepted as the general sentiment of the outfit. It may not admit that it can't win without McGraw; but it can't deny that it doesn't.

The worst of it is that McGraw has been missing for rather lengthy periods in each of the last four seasons. The puppets were ready to dance but the master wasn't there to pull the strings. At least, Hughey Jennings, Roger Bresnahan and Ray Schalk acting managers in three of the four emergencies, found this to be so.

BRITISH PRO ROUTS OLD COMPLEX THEORY IN GOLF

Says Yankees Win by Harder Play, and Not Psychology.

Archie Compston, "WHAT about the inferiority complex now?" exclaimed burly Archie Compston, on the evening of Britain's Ryder Cup triumph. His tone suggested the irritation which he, in company with his British contemporaries, feel whenever America's amateur psychologists attempt to prove that Uncle Sam's ascendancy over John Bull on the links has its tap roots in the rigid caste system which keeps British professional "in their place."

The failure of Abe Mitchell, Charley Whitcombe, Archie Compston and the rest to win the British open cannot be traced to the fact that they must enter the clubhouse by the employees' entrance and eat by themselves, segregated from the members.

"You don't have to delve into psychology to discover why few Britons have won the British open since the war. The explanation is really much simpler than you've been led to suppose. It has to do with mechanical principles rather than neurotic phenomena. Britain's post-war professionals have failed to keep step with our homebreds at medal play because the former are not as adept as the Yankees at the art of economizing strokes. The leading Britons may be our equals as shot makers, may hit the ball as sweetly, may swing it unimpeachably, but they can't score as our 'pros' do over a stretch of holes.

Speaking at the dinner given to Duncan's victorious Ryder team, Compston said: "If we ever did have an inferiority complex it was because, deep in our hearts, we realized we were poorer players than the Americans."

"George Duncan," continued Compston, "who used to put like a man inspired, has regained his lost touch by adopting the putting style used by almost all the American pros—keeping the club head moving in a straight line, with one wrist acting against the other, instead of letting the wrists work together as in the old fashioned English pendulum system. Duncan's failure to capitalize his genius has been due to a faulty technique on the 'green'."

If an inferiority complex was really the answer, it surely would be most evident in the man to man phase of the game. Competitive results demonstrate that the British "pros" hold their own when facing flesh and blood antagonists, only to wilt when opposed to the grim shadow of par.

Where was the inferiority complex when Duncan's men scored decisively over Hagen's boys at Moortown? It is golf history proves British professionals have the edge on our

EMBRYO CERAMIST ALSO STARS IN SPORT FIELD

Bill Cox Could Qualify As Coach if He Chose That Work.

COLUMBUS, O., May 28.—Bill Cox, now attending Ohio State university, hopes some day to be a ceramic engineer, but any time he decides to give up that business he will be able to switch over to the coaching game without the slightest difficulty.

Cox came to Ohio State in 1927 as boxing instructor and also helped direct the freshman football team at the Buckeye school that year. During the past winter he refereed with exceptional success the Ohio State university boxing tourney, besides officiating at bouts under the supervision of the Columbus boxing commission.

Back in 1924, when Cox was a senior at Muskingum college, he reached the climax of his varsity athletic career by being named all-Ohio center on the mythical football team selected that year.

Prior to receiving that honor, Cox had enrolled at Marietta college, but he switched over to Muskingum basketball teams for two years.

Cox had a successful two-year coaching record after being graduated from Muskingum, but he gave it up to some degree when he came to Ohio State to enter the department of ceramic engineering.

Following his graduation, Cox took up the coaching duties at Cedarville high, his team winning the Greene county championship and his basketball squad taking 17 out of 18 games.

Cox was at Cedarville both one season going to East Liverpool high school as assistant coach in the 1926-27 school year.

As boxing instructor and official at Ohio State, Cox has attained a high degree of success. Less trouble was experienced in the 1929 boxing tourney conducted at the school than in any other previous glove-throwing meet at the Buckeye university, largely because of the fine handling of the bouts by Cox.

Yanks when the ordeal is by match play. The "shrinking" Mitchells and Duncans are at their best when they can see their enemies.

The answer is practical. American professionals set a theoretically higher standard of perfection than do their British contemporaries. Our men aim for the pin; Britons shoot for the green. "I must lay my approach dead," says the American. "I must get home on this one," says the Briton. In setting his cap for a birdie the American is apt to get no worse than a par, whereas the Briton, striving for the lesser goal, is likely to miss even that objective and go "one over."

Archie Compston emphasized this point when he said at Leeds: "We are determined to raise our standard of play to the same level as that of the top flight American professionals. As long as we were content to regard twenty yards as the distance from the hole which we could reasonably expect to cover in two strokes there was no chance of holding the Americans who operate on the idea that a man is a bad golfer if he habitually takes more than two strokes to hole out from a forty-yard radius."

Cox's knowledge of the boxing game is apparently as well-grounded as his football. He capped the state amateur middleweight boxing championship in the annual tournament in 1927.

Cox, incidentally, was Dick Larkins' coach at East Liverpool high school and has a world of praise for the Ohio tackle who just last week announced his secret marriage of last summer. The ex-Muskingum star claims that Larkins, in his high school days, was a better center than the average Ohio conference pivot man.

A. A. Leaders Keep Berths

With only three games contested yesterday, and two of 'em what are called double-headers, top standings in the American Association remained unchanged from yesterday, but considerably transmitted from the Friday list.

By reason of splitting a double-header with Indianapolis, and by reason of Louisville falling before the onslaught of Toledo, the Columbus Senators were hoisted from the cellar position.

Louisville is now the official keeper of the key to the basement, which is just another way of saying it is at the bottom of the ladder.

In the three games played yesterday, Columbus nosed out Indianapolis by a 10-to-9 score, were in turn nosed out by a 3-to-2 tally in the second game, and Toledo knocked Louisville around the diamond and grass plots of the outfield for a 8-to-1 victory.

The Milwaukee-St. Paul contest and the Kansas City-Minneapolis game, which were scheduled to provide the rooters with more than a goodly share of excitement, were rained out.

Kansas City widened the percentage standing between itself and Minneapolis in its Saturday game, and that team now holds first place with .742 while Minneapolis is second with .714.

St. Paul still clings to third, and Indianapolis holds to fourth, assured by not by its own virtues.

Milwaukee is pushing the latter team not too closely and meanwhile it languishes in sixth.

Columbus is seventh, as was mentioned in the foregoing and Louisville is last.

FOX HUNTERS PLAN FIELD DAY

The True Blue Fox hunters of Newell, W. Va., will open their club grounds, back of Newell, with a field meet and barn dance Thursday, Memorial day.

Wild fox chase in the morning at 6 o'clock starts the day's program. The dance is scheduled for 8 p. m.

Grays On Road For 20 Years

Colored Stars, Here Wednesday, Stronger Than Ever.

SCHEDULING of the Homestead Grays, crack colored club of Pittsburgh for a game in East Liverpool, May 29, has been well received by district fans. The admissions are certain to be in heavy demand as the Grays are the best independent attraction obtainable and their coming to East Liverpool was arranged only after the local management consented to meet stiff terms.

The Homestead Grays, as is known in this section, are not a fly-by-night aggregation. They have been traveling the towns and cities of the tri-state district for nearly 20 years, the last 10 of which they have been an outstanding club in independent circles.

Their record is perhaps the best ever made by a baseball club. In each of the past five years they have won over 100 games, their best mark being established in 1925 when they won 113 games. The most games they ever played in a single season was in 1925 when they went through 172 games, more than the major league clubs. And of this number 133 were victories.

The Homestead Grays in order to fill their numerous engagements, travel in automobiles. They're here today and in some other town tomorrow. And they often travel as far as 150 miles for a single game. It's the policy of Manager Posey to keep his club busy every day and this isn't a difficult undertaking, owing to the popularity of the club.

Manager Posey keeps his club up to the standard season after season. He adds new material as soon as some of the players show signs of slipping. But there are some who have been with the club for a long time. This is particularly true of Lefty Williams and Oscar Owens, pitchers, Jack Washington, first baseman, and M. Harris, second baseman. This quartet has been with the club for over 10 years and for years Owens and Lefty Williams were the keystones of the pitching staff. But when the club branched out a few years ago it was necessary to obtain reserve power and Manager Posey added some of the best colored players in the country. If you don't believe this come out to the game and see them perform.

Buccos Push Cards Out Of First Place

Red Birds Used to Beat Bucs; Now It's Other Way.

NEW YORK, May 27.—One of the main reasons why the St. Louis Cardinals won the National League pennant last year was their ability to beat Pittsburgh. The Red Birds took 15 of their 22 games with the Pirates.

This year, however, the shoe is on the other foot. The Bucs have taken the measure of the champions five times in seven games. They won two out of three from the Cards recently and knocked them out of first place yesterday by beating them twice, 12 to 8 and 7 to 5.

The Pirates, who have won six of their last eight games, are only five percentage points behind St. Louis this morning and will take second if they trim the Red Birds again today.

The spurts of the Pirates and the Giants have transformed the National league scramble into a four-cornered race. The Giants have won five straight, mainly at the expense of the slipping Braves, but will be put to a sterner test this week in their series with the fast-traveling Brooklyn Robins, who have copped seven of their last nine starts.

Rogers Hornsby's homer with one on base featured Chicago's 5 to 1 win over the disorganized Cincinnati outfit yesterday. The undefeated Guy Bush chalked up his fifth victory of the season and pitched the Bruins back into first place.

Two pinch hitters, Pat Crawford of the Giants, and Les Bell, of the Braves, each hit a home run with bases loaded as New York swamped Boston, 15 to 8. Old Cy Williams pinch-hit a homer with two on in the ninth and apparently won a ball game for the Phillies. But a counter rally enabled Brooklyn to nose out the Quakers by a 5-to-4 count.

Jess Haines of the Cardinals, undefeated in his last 14 games, was beaten as the Pirates outsluggered the cards in the first game of their double bill. Douthitt collected seven hits during the afternoon, including one homer, and Bottomley hit for the circuit twice.

Eleven straight for the Athletics in the American league. With Washington again the victim yesterday by a 4-to-3 score, New York swamped the Red Sox. The Athletics were looking as if nobody but Judge Landis will be able to stop the murderous Mackmen.

Red Faber, 40-year-old spitball pitcher spending his sixteenth season with the Chicago White Sox, held the slugging Tigers to one hit, a single by Gehring in the fourth. Ownie Carroll allowed the Sox only four bingles, but errors gave Chicago a 2 to 0 win.

Homers by Ruth, Menezel and Dickey featured the Yankees' 15-to-4 landslide over the Red Sox. Ruth's homer was his ninth, leaving him only one behind Gehrig.

Rip Collins of the Browns won a neat pitching duel from Hudlin of Cleveland, 1 to 0.

PAIR OF BASEBALL SPARKPLUGS

No car, good or bad, can run without sparkplugs any more than a baseball team can win without some leading spirit. This year brought out two excellent examples of players who are pulling their teammates along the rough road to the pennant. Rabbit Maranville, an older, is maintaining a .300 gait with the Braves and is largely responsible for their present fast gait. The other is the former Giant and Fordham Flash, Frankie Frisch, who stands among the five best hitters in the league and covets around second in his own inimitable style. These two boys are the sparkplugs of their teams and as long as they stay good the teams will run smoothly.

On The Sport Jigger

By the Sports Editor

BURLEIGH GRIMES in the role of relief pitcher! At any other time this might be the sign for the weeps. But not now. It seems to mean the Bucs find it pretty tough to get along without the old master, whether he starts or not.

He came to the rescue yesterday in a pair of games with the Cards and the Pirates won 'em both.

Grimes hasn't been beaten yet . . . and the Bucs have played something like one-sixth of their schedule. Of course he's going to get trimmed one of these days when the boys out back of him start kicking them around, but what a record it would be for the season if he could keep going the rest of the way like he started!

No one here is pulling any harder for Grimes to come through with another big season than Bill Powell, himself with the Pirates once.

Bill almost beat Grimes it a pitching duel once. It was in the Southern association. Powell was hurling for Little Rock, Grimes of Nashville. The game was played at Nashville and Little Rock was one tally to the good.

In the last frame with two gone, one of the Nashville clubbers lifted one into left field, a short high fly. Jimmy Murray, the gardener, came prancing up to grab it. Powell started to the bench, along with eight other Little Rock players. They heard a sudden outburst of shrieks from the stands that froze them in their tracks. Murray lost the ball in the sun.

Grimes won the game.

All Outdoors

COLUMBUS, O., May 24.—The Nippon is coming back. Anglers who have been there recently say so, and we have it from no less authority than the Canadian Pacific Railway scouts. This great fishing territory in the Thunder Bay district of Ontario was said to have been fished out a few years ago. But protection by the Ontario authorities restored the game fish. Trout and walleyes are now plentiful.

This will be good news for American anglers. You reach the Nippon territory through Sudbury, 20 hours west, or two hours east of Port Arthur. William McKirdy at Nipigon Station is a reliable guide and source of information.

About eight hours north of Toronto is the Pickering river. The postoffice is Pickering, Ontario. Good small-mouth bass fishing is found there, with trout and walleyes handy. There are muskies, too. For diversion one is afforded attractive canoe trips to Georgian bay. Frank Sheldon is a good guide at Pickering.

Good authority has it that the Manitowish in Wisconsin is a good place to go for muskies, bass and pickerel. This is 400 miles from Chicago on the C. N. W. railroad. Many small lakes are near by, with good camps. There is also deer hunting there. Buck and Son at Manitowish can provide definite information as to locations.

Ozark Ripley, well-known outdoor writer, tells of attending a banquet for the Prince of Wales in Canada. He asked the prince what was, in his opinion, the greatest difference between the British and American people.

England's future king immediately replied that the British had learned through wisdom and necessity, the need to conserve their natural resources. Americans, he added, were wasteful and "exploiters," who would, some day, pay "an awful price."

"America must learn to conserve her resources," Wales said.

Chicago Race Track Attracts Many Owners

More than 600 horses are expected to be stabled here for the Washington park track meeting, opening May 27. One of the most successful meets in the Chicago district is predicted this year for Arlington track, which opens July 1. Entries indicate that close to 1,000 horses will take part in the races there.

Chester Invades Wellsville

Tonight's Game Will Break Four-way League Tie.

THE Inter-City baseball deadlock in which, after weeks of baseball, the two main contenders are exactly even—tonight, partially, at least, when Chester and Wellsville clubs battle at Nicholson Field, Wellsville.

The game will mark the first appearance of the West Virginia combine on Wellsville territory.

The winner in tonight's fray will go into first place and the loser—the loser will skid clear to the bottom and, unless, of course, there is a tie game, Laughlin and K. T. K. tomorrow will be tied for second place.

And then that tie will be fractured tomorrow night when these two clubs clash at Columbus park, and the chase will be on again.

Manager Les McMath of the Chester club today announced that the scheduled game between Chester and K. T. K. Wednesday night at Smith Field will be postponed in order that Chester fans may take in the exhibition battle between the Homer Laughlin club and the Homestead Grays.

There are no games on Memorial day, Thursday, but on Friday, the Wellsville club will go into action at Newell.

Doctor Found What is Best for Thin, Constipated People

As a family doctor at Monticello, Illinois, the whole human body, not any small part of it, was Dr. Caldwell's practice. More than half his "calls" were on women, children and babies. They are the most often sick. But their illnesses were usually of a minor nature—colds, fevers, headaches, biliousness—and all of them required first a thorough evacuation. In the course of his 47 years' practice (he was graduated from Rush Medical College back in 1875), he found a good deal of success in such cases with a prescription of his own containing simple laxative herbs with psyllium. In 1892 he decided to use this formula in the manufacture of a medicine to be known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and in that year his prescription was first placed on the market. The preparation immediately had as great a success in the drug stores as it previously had in his private practice. Now, the third generation is using it. Mothers are giving it to their children who were given it by their mothers. Every second of the working day someone somewhere is going into a drug store to buy it. Millions of bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are being used a year. Its great success is based on merit.

on repeated buying, on one satisfied user telling another. There are thousands of homes in this country that are never without a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and we have gotten many hundreds of letters from grateful people telling us that it helped them when everything else failed. Every drug store sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.—Adv.

WET WEATHER DELAYS ROAD WORK; POUR CONCRETE ON E. PALESTINE JOB

Lisbon-Elkton-Williamsport and Negley-Rogers Highway Improvements Also Held up.

LISBON, O., May 27.—On account of wet weather only one-half mile of concrete has been poured on the new East Liverpool-East Palestine road in St. Clair township. The last concrete has been poured on the Middleton township section of this highway, save near Negley where the road has been changed and a new concrete bridge will be constructed. The graded section of this road in St. Clair township has been in such condition on account of recent rains that it has been impossible for trucks to haul material over the sub-grade. No attempt has been made to do any concrete work on the Lisbon-Elkton-Williamsport road by George B. Patterson of Wellsville, because of the condition of the sub-grade. Allison, Harris company of East Liverpool has been doing preliminary work on the Negley-Rogers road, but so far no concrete has been poured. Former Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Kindsvatter will be in charge of the field work on this contract. Francis & Company, of East Palestine are grading the Summitville-Kensington road in Franklin and Hanover townships. No concrete work will be done until next year on this job. Other road improvement work has been delayed a month on account of weather conditions, County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk said.

Smith-Stuba Wedding.
Sigmund Stuba of Lisbon, a former resident of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Mrs. Freda Smith of Elkton township, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Carlisle, of Elkton, were married at the parsonage of the Lisbon Methodist Episcopal church by the Rev. C. N. Church.

ASKS CONTRACT CANCELLATION

Sophia Krauss has filed suit in common pleas court against Michael and Martha Hoprich, Newgarden street, Salem, for the cancellation of a contract and deed, charging the defendants have failed to carry out their part of the agreement. The plaintiff was to deliver the defendants a warranty deed for three lots in Salem, upon one of which a house has been erected. The terms were that the defendants were to give the plaintiff for the rest of her life a furnished room in the house that would be comfortable, and also pay all taxes and assessments against the property and, in addition, a note for $500. It was also provided that in the event of the death of Michael Hoprich the Martha Hoprich would continue the terms of the agreement. It is related in the petition that the terms of the agreement have not been complied with.

FOX IS BLAMED IN LAMB KILLING

As a result of the killing of 14 lambs and two pigs on the farm of W. Bowers in Fairfield township, five red fox puppies have been sent to the Roosevelt state game preserve at Portsmouth by Deputy Game Warden L. W. Boring of Lisbon. After Bowers discovered his loss, he blamed the fox, and located the five puppies, but not the mother fox. Bowers then notified Boring who with Dog Warden C. E. Donahey of Damascus went to the Bowers farm and obtained the young.

GRAVES OF HERO DEAD DECORATED

Sixty-seven graves of soldier and sailor dead in 13 rural cemeteries in the Lisbon district were decorated Sunday by members of John Welsh post, American Legion, and Veterans of Foreign Wars. A union memorial service was held at the Methodist Episcopal church Sunday night, the sermon being delivered by the Rev. Jarvis M. Cotton of the Presbyterian church. A public memorial service will be held at Lisbon next Thursday afternoon. Preceding it the graves of the hero dead in the Lisbon cemetery will be decorated. The Memorial day address will be delivered by the Rev. F. C. Lake of the Christian church.

How Baby Specialists Treat Constipation

Constipation in babies and children is the cause of colic, bloating, skin disorders, etc. It weakens them, just as it does grown folks; makes them cross, feverish and fretful. But don't use grown folks' medicine with them, baby specialists advise. Ninety per cent. of them recommend just one preparation for constipation, colds and other ills of babies and children. They say Fletcher's Castoria. Millions of mothers have proved its merit during thirty years of use. Castoria is purely vegetable, harmless and pleasant tasting. Genuine Castoria always bears the Fletcher signature. Avoid imitations.—Adv.

They remove that black, greenish, bile from the liver which, if allowed to remain, causes GALL STONES in middle aged persons. Calomel when taken in excessive strength as a laxative, causes the system to become salivated and the teeth to loosen; mineral drugs often remain in the system instead of passing off with the waste matter, and many times AFFECT the BONES; coal tar products, which are at present time used in candy and chewing gum laxatives, if taken in excess AFFECT the KIDNEYS; mineral oils, due to their lubricating action, DO NOT EXERCISE NATURE'S MACHINERY. Strong purgative medicines often leave the patient in a MORE constipated condition than before taking, and are attended usually by severe and painful griping. ORANGE ROOT NUGGETS stimulate the functions of BOTH the Liver and LOWER BOWEL; they have a "softening" effect upon the waste matter in the bowels, and insure evacuation WITHOUT griping, straining or constipating AFTER effects. Orange Root NUGGETS are indicated in all cases of DIZZINESS, SPOTS BE-

FRESH FLOWERS AT RIVERVIEW GREENHOUSES

Stocks are Increased for Memorial Day Needs.

OPEN EVENINGS

Careful Attention is Given to 'Phone Orders.

With the annual Memorial day observance not a week away and the demand for flowers and plants certain to be great, the Riverview Greenhouses, in Anderson boulevard, are exerting every effort to prepare a complete stock of selections for this occasion.

While the Riverview will have its customary features in the flower line, they also expect to increase their range of selections to include virtually everything and anything that may be needed.

Inasmuch as they now have additional greenhouses, their capacity will be almost twice as great as it was this time last year. Stocks will include such potted plants as hydrangeas, rose bushes, fuchsias, calceolarias, ferns, geraniums, begonias, lilies and also mixed pots of flowers.

They will also have a wonderful selection of cut flowers including carnations, roses, sweet peas, tulips, etc. And everything, they announce, will be reasonably priced. The greenhouses will be kept open in the evenings this week. In the event that customers are unable to make personal selections, the Riverview promises special attention to telephone orders. Delivery will be made to any place in the city.

As an additional aid to patrons, a stand has been located in the city market house, too.

LOANS AID TO HOME BUILDERS

Such Loans Part of Hancock Building Ass'n. Service.

Very few buyers or builders of homes have the cash with which to finance the transaction. In practically every instance, they must have recourse to a loan.

Making such loans has been the first business of the Hancock County Building and Loan Association for more than twenty-nine years, and it now has more than four million dollars invested in mortgages arising out of such operations.

At the same time, the institution is making itself profitable as well as easy for more than three thousand people on both sides of the river.

Brakes Poor? Take Car to Doak's

We know some people who had better go and get some insurance, says the boss at Doak's auto repair shop—life insurance we mean—if they don't get around pretty soon and get the brakes in their car reined.

We also suspect they say, that the insurance companies would not give these same people a policy if they knew the condition of their brakes. How are the brakes on your car? Is the lining worn—or is it the lining of poor quality—or is it glazed so that it doesn't grip? Are the brakes out of adjustment? Are the drums scored? You can probably answer these questions if you want to go to the trouble, but when it is so much easier to drive in to Doak's and let them answer for you—quickly, satisfactorily—Isn't that the better plan?

Don't put it off—don't forget—this is the kind of forgetfulness of which you are reminded with a jolt—when you hit something.

'Y' CAFETERIA FILLS THE BILL

Splendid Food, Instant Service, Recommend It.

Eating in the cafeteria is the modern way—as the steady growth of this particular type of service throughout the country testifies.

Eating in the cafeteria is suggested by dieticians who will tell you it is best to do so because you can choose your foods carefully and select more easily a well balanced meal. It is the accepted eating place—the cafeteria. The Y. M. C. A. cafeteria, corner of Fourth and Washington streets, delivers this brand of service to East Liverpool people.

You can always be certain of home cooked food, from entree to dessert. While the "Y" cafeteria caters to a wide variety of trade, business people, especially, like to take their meals there, not only because the food is so deliciously prepared but also because it is economical and time saving. At noon time, particularly, business women find they can enjoy a dainty, appetizing luncheon and have plenty of time for shopping and other matters.

Indeed, the modern way of eating is the cafeteria style. It serves you quickly, and efficiently, with fresh, fine foods which can be seen.

And at the "Y" you get the best amid pleasant surroundings. They association is ten million dollars, of which $1,000,000 has been paid in while purchasers of deposit stock have approximately $3,200,000.00 standing to their credit. Resources, which exceed $4,425,000.00 are more than 412 per cent greater than ten years ago.

An active Christmas club and a school savings system with almost a thousand members broadens the scope of the association's service to the district.

TRACTION COMPANY'S SUBWAY EAST OF BARCLAY FARM COMPLETED

Pennsylvania Railroad
Will Begin Work This Week on Overhead
Crossing.

VANPORT, Pa., May 27.—The crossing under the tracks of the Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction company, east of the Barclay farm, has been completed. The two tracks are now open.

The county and state will grade and pave the approaches to the subway which will connect on the south side with an overhead crossing to be built by the Pennsylvania Railroad company. The earth removed from the subway has been used for a fill for part of the overhead. Engineers' offices have been erected near the present crossing. Work will begin this week.

Abolition of both the street car and railroad grade crossings was ordered some time ago by the Pennsylvania public service commission. The cost of the improvement will be divided among the railroad and traction companies, highway department, county and township.

The traction company will repair a large portion of the tracks and roadbed between Midland and Beaver this summer.

Rinehart Brothers of East Liverpool, O., will surface the approaches to the overhead crossing at Vanport this summer. The contract, awarded by the state highway department, calls for a concrete road 18 feet wide and 1,719 feet long. The cost will be $15,000. Rinehart Brothers completed the fill to the bridge last summer.

ANXIOUS PARENTS FIND HELP IN OWA-TON-NA

Youth Who Had to Spend Most of His Time in Bed, Now Able to Be Out and Play With His Friends.

Remarkable, indeed, are some of the reports about the good that this fine old Indian Remedy is doing in East Liverpool that are being told to the special laboratory representative now located at Carnahan's Drug Store, 114 East Sixth street. Many sufferers who had reached the point of despair, in fact had almost given up hope, have found new hope in this Indian Remedy. Many are the thankful endorsements being received each day. These results are not obtained through the use of dangerous, harmful drugs but by nature's own roots, herbs, barks and berries as originally formulated by the Indian compound under this name Owa-Ton-Na.

Parents of Master Felix Farmer, 316 S. Lake Erie street, Steubenville, Ohio, say that the thanks they give this fine old Indian Remedy can not be expressed in words. They say:—"Our eight-year-old boy had been a constant care. Each day he was upmost in our minds. Infantile paralysis had left him in a terrible run-down condition, in fact he had never been able to overcome this illness. We tried almost everything that was ever recommended to us, who wouldn't when a child is helpless?"

"Food didn't seem to agree with him, would form gas and ferment in his stomach. His kidneys didn't act normally, he was forced to get up many times at night to relieve bladder irritation. Backaches and headaches were often present. In fact, he had got to the point where he spent most of his time in bed, too weak to be up. He didn't seem to have any interest in life.

"We had both taken Owa-Ton-Na with such wonderful results that we felt that it might possibly help our little boy. We knew it could do no harm so we tried it without too much hope that it would do any good. After a few bottles we could notice a change in his condition. He seemed more active and brighter, food didn't disagree with him as much as it used to and his bowels were acting regularly. Kidneys were acting normally and after three weeks time he had gained ten pounds in weight and started to go out and play with the other children every day.

"Although he has only taken three bottles of Owa-Ton-Na, results he has had are remarkable. While he is not what a boy of eight years should be, we feel thankful that he has made as much improvement as he has and feel satisfied that if he continues to improve it will not be long until he will be as good as he should be. We would be glad to tell anyone personally about these wonderful results. Words cannot express the good that has been accomplished in our family by this fine old Indian Remedy."

Cases like these of Felix Farmer's are indeed remarkable yet time after time Owa-Ton-Na has accomplished remarkable results even in the most obstinate cases. It is not claimed that Owa-Ton-Na performs miracles nor is it a cure all. Its tonic and cleansing effect on the kidneys, liver, stomach and intestinal tract aid nature in the elimination of harmful poisons which bring about disease.

Prove to yourself the benefits to be derived by the use of this harmless remedy by obtaining a bottle today. Let it prove to you the way nature's roots, herbs, barks and berries as compounded in this Indian formula aid nature in the restoration of health. A special laboratory representative is located at Carnahan's Drug Store, 114 East Sixth street, East Liverpool, O., who is daily explaining to eager health seekers the merits of this fine old Indian Remedy. This service is free and incurs no obligation. Owa-Ton-Na is also obtainable at Carnahan's East End and Newell, W. Va. stores.

EAST END PROF. DICKASON FILLS PULPIT

Welfare Discussed at Second Presbyterian Church.

In the absence of the Rev. Dr. F. A. Dean at the Second Presbyterian church, Prof. T. H. Dickason, of Pittsburgh, Pa., filled the pulpit yesterday. He spoke in the interest of welfare work.

He noted the organization and carrying on of a school in the southern mountains by a former young man, who previously had never heard of Jesus Christ.

Entering a church meeting in one of the sparsely settled sections he asked to be made acquainted with the personage of whom a woman was speaking. In time he was directed to a school and worked his way through it. Then he set about starting one of his own, he said.

He mentioned also that the welfare work in which he is involved materially aided a young Greek, who had the ambition to become a teacher in which he excelled until he entered the army during the World war and from which he never returned. A monument was erected in the community in which he served to perpetuate his memory.

Prof. Dickason spoke again to the congregation last night, his discourse being addressed to young people.

Second United Presbyterian.

To further the financial needs of the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary the Rev. J. C. Smith, D. D., of Pittsburgh, Pa., spoke in the First United Presbyterian church yesterday morning and to the congregation of the Second United Presbyterian church in the evening.

The Rev. Dr. Smith is serving his second year in his present position with the seminary.

Serving also as one of the trustees of the institution, he from time to time has visited the various churches of the denomination, indicating the need for the education of those agreeing to devote their lives to the ministry. The institution depends entirely upon endowments, he disclosed.

Some ten years ago the Rev. Dr. Smith was pastor of the United Presbyterian church in Wellsville, from where he went to Cambridge, Ohio.

Yesterday afternoon he was the guest of the Rev. W. T. McCandless, pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church.

Prices are Low! 3 reasons why!

ONLY with a simple, straightforward proposition like this, can prices be really low for a given quality. Here are the reasons ours are so low:

1.

We do not sell mileage guarantees or tire insurance. Quality and service are the best insurance you can have—they insure not only against excessive cost but against trouble.

2.

We do not sell discounts. Our prices are printed on the wall where everyone can read them, and you get the lowest price right off the bat.

3.

We do not sell time-payment plans. You can't afford to pay even a dollar extra just in order to pay $1 down and a dollar a week. Buy one tire at a time if you must, but buy quality at low price.

Forbidden Door

Story of Adventurous Youth, Mystery, Fortune and a Girl.

By Herman Landon

"Now I'll tell you something that may surprise you," Traycore continued. "Old Winthrop was aware of my addiction, of course. He knew it would be useless to try to stop me. Shortly before he died, however, he exacted a promise from me. I don't suppose you realize the meaning of a promise given by me to Old Winthrop. I can't try to explain it to you. I'll only say this. To me that promise is more sacred than the most terrible oath. If I went back on it, I should hate and despise myself throughout eternity. The most awful torture couldn't induce me to break that promise."

Hannan's aversion changed to astonishment. He marvelled at the dynamic influence that must have been exerted by Old Winthrop on this man, an influence that was in force even now.

"What was the promise?" he asked.

Traycore passed to the table and looked down at the roses in the case.

"Old Winthrop made me promise that, if the clock above the iron door should ever stop, I would instantly refrain from the use of the stimulant you saw me inject into my veins a moment ago."

Hannan started. "Did Old Winthrop have an idea the clock would stop?"

"Naturally, it can't keep running forever. Something is certain to wear out. That isn't the point, however," Traycore crooked mouth twisted in a curious smile. "Old Winthrop knew that, once I stopped using the stimulant, I would be a raving lunatic within a few hours and a dead man in a day or two."

A startled exclamation sprang from Hannan's lips. He saw it all now. Old Winthrop had arranged everything. As long as the clock kept running the iron door would act as a safeguard. When it stopped, Traycore would die, and the menace would be gone.

"And you intend to live up to your promise?"

"Of course," said Traycore, simply. "You see what my life is. Even without my promise to Old Winthrop, it will hardly be worth living much longer."

He was bending over the roses in the vase. Hannan gazed at him in wonder.

"I made an interesting discovery this morning," he added, after a pause. "The clock over the iron door is three minutes slow. I never knew it to happen before."

The statement echoed crazily in Hannan's ears. Traycore gave a broken, sardonic laugh.

"Oh, well, some day it will stop forever, and then there will be no menace behind the iron door. But until then—" He laughed again, this time shrilly, insanely. Then, suddenly he snatched up the vase containing the wild roses and held it aloft.

"Exquisite!" he murmured. "Exquisite—and so they must die!"

Then he tore the roses from the vase, crushed them in his hand and laughed again.

"Look at me, Hannan. Do you wonder that I hate all beautiful things? This is how I treat them."

For a moment he looked down at the crushed roses resting in the palm of his hand. Then, with a shout of rage and glee, he flung them to the floor and stamped on them.

"I hate them!" he shouted, "hate them! Do you know why? Because they are beautiful, while I am the ugliest thing in creation."

Again he crushed the roses under his foot. Presently his violence subsided. A soft, calculating look came into his face.

"Miss Lane is a lovely little thing," he murmured. "Truly exquisite!"

A hideous sensation tore at Hannan's heart. He looked down at the mutilated roses; then up at Traycore's transfixed face. There was still a faint, sweet odor in the air. The roses, though crushed, were still breathing forth their fragrance. Old Winthrop, though dead, was still invincible.

Hannan smiled despite the horror that gripped his heart. And then he noticed that an automatic pistol had suddenly appeared in the doctor's hand. He looked at it calculatingly. Every muscle and nerve in his body felt sore and stiff. Yet perhaps he could make it.

"Hannan," asked Traycore suddenly, "you are very much in love with the little charmer, aren't you?"

"If you mean Miss Lane—yes," replied Hannan emphatically.

"That complicates the situation. At the same time you are also very much in love with life, aren't you?"

"Oh, very much," Hannan replied with apparent casualness. Again he glanced at the pistol in the doctor's hand. If he should fall—He shuddered in contemplation of the possible result. What would happen to Viola then?

"And you are in love with Miss Lane too," Traycore remarked. "It's a bad combination. However, perhaps we shall find a way out. Come with me."

Hannan did not understand, but the look he saw in Traycore's face haunted him like a thing of blackest malevolence. They walked down a hall illuminated by a lamp in a wall fixture. The doctor, handling the weapon in a conspicuous manner, paused before a door and unlocked it, then motioned his companion to enter. When they were inside, Traycore lighted a lamp.

Hannan's heart beat violently. A figure, fully dressed, was lying on a bed. His eyes fixed on a small white face framed by lovely brown curls. He checked an impulse to spring forward. The doctor's pale eyes were watching him covertly.

"I put her in my room. Thought she would be more comfortable here," Traycore's tone was faintly ironic. "As you see, she is sleeping just now. She grew a little hysterical, and it was necessary to administer a narcotic."

Hannan's pulses raced. The room seemed to rock and heave.

"A little beauty," the doctor remarked, looking down at the still face on the pillow. It was just so he had looked at the crushed roses. "It would really be a pity—"

Hannan trembled violently.

A diabolical smile played about Traycore's lips. "She would make a charming martyr to science. I could make splendid use of her in my laboratory. Unfortunately, however, some of my experiments are not painless. Quite the contrary. You should have heard Peters' screams. The poor man had an awful time of it. First Cerberus' claws, then the other thing."

Hannan was beside himself, yet he felt that everything depended on his ability to muster an appearance of calm.

"But don't distress yourself," Traycore added in tones of gentle irony. "Miss Lane may be spared all that unpleasantness. It depends on you. Take this, but I would advise you not to point it my way."

From his pocket Traycore drew a small pistol, much smaller than the one he held in his hand, and handed it to Hannan.

"It contains a single cartridge—just a single cartridge," he explained. "The fact is important. I shall leave you now, but I am coming back in half an hour. Then we shall see."

"What do you mean," Hannan cried, suddenly filled with a great, sickening fear.

A smile that was abysmally hideous tinged the doctor's lips.

"Unless Miss Lane is dead when I return, she will suffer the same experience that fell to Peters' lot. You understand, Hannan?"

Traycore backed out of the room, holding the large automatic in front of him.

Hannan, clutching the smaller weapon, stood in a frozen daze, a stream of diabolical words running through his mind. He looked at the figure on the bed. It stirred ever so slightly. Then, with a dull wrenen at his heart, he glanced about the room. No windows; no chance of escape.

Suddenly a voice called his name. Viola was sitting up.

"Oh, Hannan—!"

The cry roused Hannan from the stupefying horror that had seized him. He looked at Viola, a vision of white loveliness that stabbed his heart with pain, and then he swung around and time after time hurled himself frenziedly at the door. It met his wild assaults with a solid resistance.

"Hannan, dear," Viola reached out her arms. "Come here. I want you near me."

"Oh, sweetheart!" He flung the little pistol down on the table and sat beside her. Her hazel eyes were full of dread, yet they smiled encouragement at him.

ALL HER ACHES AND PAINS JUST A MEMORY NOW — LAUDS "ORANGE ROOT"

Mrs. W. C. Bowers Gives "ORANGE ROOT" All the Credit for Delivering Her of Awful Agonies of Neuritis Which Kept Her in Misery for 3 Years.

Says She Has Also Been Relieved of Dreadful Stomach Trouble and Feels Stronger and Livelier Than She Has in Years — Advises Women to Take It.

Mrs. W. C. Bowers of R. F. D. No. 1, Salineville, Ohio, near East Liverpool, feels so happy and grateful over the wonderful results obtained thru the use of "ORANGE ROOT" Iron and Celery Compound that she voluntarily sends in this cheerful report with the hopes that it might benefit other women suffering as she did. She says: "I have had neuritis and rheumatism for the past 3 years and have tried everything that was recommended to me and took other treatments but never obtained any relief till I started taking 'ORANGE ROOT.' I ached and pained all over and was in misery constantly. It would start in my shoulders and follow down to my arms and lower limbs till I would fairly cry out in pain. It was terrible. At night the pains were so severe I could not turn in bed. This suffering would continue for weeks at a time, till I was so weak and nervous I could not attend to my work or household duties. To make matters worse, I suffered with a bad stomach. After eating food would not digest and formed a heavy mass in the pit of my stomach with much gas in my throat and chest until I could scarcely breathe. At times I almost choked to death. I lost all desire for food, and became in a badly rundown condition. 'ORANGE ROOT' had been praised so highly by great numbers of local folks, so I decided to give it a trial. Since taking 5 bottles of it and a few of those golden Nuggets, I can truthfully say, all my rheumatic and neuritis has left me, and I AM FREE OF ALL ACHES AND PAINS. Everything I eat now seems to agree with me, for I do not have any more trouble with gas or pains in my chest. My nerves are quiet and calm, and I can sleep soundly all night thru. This ORANGE ROOT is simply wonderful for no one knows what it means to be rid of constant misery after suffering for 3 long years, and I am one really grateful person today. I think golden Nuggets are the best thing I ever took to regulate the liver and relieve chronic constipation. I advise all women suffering with rheumatism and neuritis and indigestion in any form to take a course of this wonderful ORANGE ROOT for I am sure it will not only relieve them, but build up their system as well. I feel stronger and have more vitality than I have had for years, and am telling everybody I see all about this great tonic." The Orange Root man is daily meeting crowds at MATHEWS MEDICINE STORE here, and you are advised to go there at once, get a treatment of these ORANGE ROOT preparations, take them faithfully, and get a new lease on life, as hundreds of others are doing right here in East Liverpool. Prices: TONIC $1.25, Nuggets 50c. Add 10c extra for parcel post charges if you wish it mailed out of town.

"WORTH WEIGHT IN GOLD"

Verdict of Woman Who Tried Pinkham's Compound

Tully, N. Y.—"It hurt me to walk or sit down without help and I felt sick and weak. My mother-in-law took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she induced me to take it. I am now on the fourth bottle and have also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. The medicines that will do for me what the Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash have done are certainly worth their weight in gold. I think I have given them a fair trial and I expect to take two more bottles of the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. CHARLES MORGAN, R. F. D. 1, Tully, N. Y.
